Description

Hazelnut Oil has one of the highest levels of oleic acid (75 – 80 per cent), higher than both olive and almond oil and also contains around 18 per cent linoleic acid. Hazelnut is a highly stable oil that penetrates quickly into the skin and is often a popular choice in skincare or used as a carrier oil for use on oily complexions to help offer balance.

Its also a lovely oil to use on the hair to help condition, protect and promote manageability. You may like to use it in a natural facial treatment for oily skin (you can try mixing a small amount with other balancing oils such as Jojoba Oil and Geranium Essential Oil).

100ml.

Vegan Friendly.
