Description

Ho Wood comes from the same tree as Camphor. Camphor is distilled from the wood of the tree, while Ho Wood comes from the leaf and contains Linalol (80-90%). Its properties are very similar to Camphor and also that of Rosewood. it has often been renowned for its uplifting, cleansing, clearing and relaxing properties. It has traditionally been used for a variety of different uses, including a muscle relaxant, a skincare remedy and to help relieve stress & tension.

This has rapidly become one of my favourite oils. Initially I wasn't sure, as it seems a mixture of floral and herbal, this is the quality I now appreciate. I still enjoy it each time I open the bottle. Highly recommended.

Loved the scent. Combined with ylang ylang, has helped my husband achieve a more peaceful sleep.
